“The Past is Never Dead will reach beyond the academy to intervene in ongoing legal disputes between Indigenous people and the Canadian and U.S. governments, which persist along the Canada-U.S. border in the present. I hope that this research will provide a resource for advocates, expert witnesses, and jurists to consider the reciprocal relationship between law and history in deciding legal disputes that hinge on points of historical interpretation.”

Colleagues in Conversation

Every month the Center holds an open, informal discussion on topics that intrigue us. Location and topic vary, so email us at arts.humanities@wsu.edu to join our mailing list for updates or to request connection information. Our Spring 2023 meetings will be held from 3:00-4:00 pm PT via zoom on January 20, February 17, March 24, and April 21.

CAH Spring Seminar Series for First-Gen Graduate Students

CAH Graduate Assistant Nazua Idris has organized a seminar series to support first-generation graduate students at WSU. The objective of this series is to provide first-gen grad students with a space where they can share the challenges that they are facing in graduate school. In addition, these meetings will help the first-gen students from various departments at WSU build a community across disciplines.

The inaugural session of the CAH Spring Seminar Series was held on Friday, January 27. Our guest speakers for the inaugural session were Dr. Laura Lavine (Professor and Chair, Dept. of Entomology) and Jessie Padilla (PhD Student, Dept. of English). CAH director Dr. Trevor Bond and Associate Director Dr. Chris Dickey were also present at the session.

Below is the full schedule for the CAH Spring Seminar Series for First-Gen Graduate Students. Please share this with your students. If a first-gen graduate student is interested in participating in any or all of these seminars, please contact arts.humanities@wsu.edu. Since we provide dinner for our participants, we will appreciate it if interested students inform us by 5:00 pm on Wednesday of the week they would like to participate.

CAH Graduate Workshop: Call for “Papers” for Spring 2023

The CAH Graduate Workshop is looking for students to offer their scholarship or creative works for sessions in February, March, and April. These sessions can take any form that students find useful. For example, last Fall we held a seminar to discuss a pre-circulated dissertation chapter from History and then hosted a performance from students in Music.

These sessions provide students with an opportunity to share their scholarly and creative work with a broader, interdisciplinary audience within the WSU Arts and Humanities community.

If a student, or group of students, is interested in participating in Spring 2023, please contact Dr. Lawrence Hatter - lawrence.hatter@wsu.edu to discuss times and locations.
